With over a decade of experience at supplying exquisite bespoke furniture, the Northumberland based Broomley Furniture have quite rightly earned themselves an enviable reputation regarding craftsmanship and sheer professionalism. Specialising in the manufacture of stunning yet durable handmade kitchens out of the best available materials, Broomley aims to bring out the true character of your home and are flexible enough to work to a range of budgets.

The kitchen is no longer just a functional room; these days it is so often the heart of the home – a reflection of the lifestyle and personality of those who use it. So it's important to get the feel of the place right; and that's just what Broomley do, every time. Not only that, but they can apply their exceptional creative talents to produce high quality, free-standing furniture to suit any environment, style or purpose, whether domestic or commercial. In fact, the only thing limiting this company is your imagination.

At Broomley they understand the importance of the customer's imagination and work to integrate the client into the fascinating design process. A continuous process of discussion, taking into account personal needs, space and appropriate materials, is all part of the service. Plans and designs are offered for your approval every step of the way – even budget estimates and technical drawings if you wish to see them. All this is in order to create truly personal furniture to suit you. That's the beauty of bespoke furniture: you can really feel like you've had a hand in its creation. You can be as involved as you want to be and have the furniture of your dreams made to your direct specifications, or you can sit back and relax and let the professionals do all the hard work and wait for them to present you with a beautiful end result.

The choice is entirely yours because there are few finer at making your imagination a reality than Broomley Furniture. They will strive to ensure you are overjoyed with the final piece – 'your' final piece.
